

High performance airport pavement sealants, with CE certification.

SABA Dinxperlo BV, based in the Netherlands, has been a specialist in manufacturing high performance elastic sealing materials for airports since the 1960's. The products are used for reliable and durable sealing of expansion joints in runways, taxi platforms, filling pits, de-icing platforms, wash installations, etc.

Saba's 2 component Polysulfide products have all the important properties which are necessary for airports. These properties are:

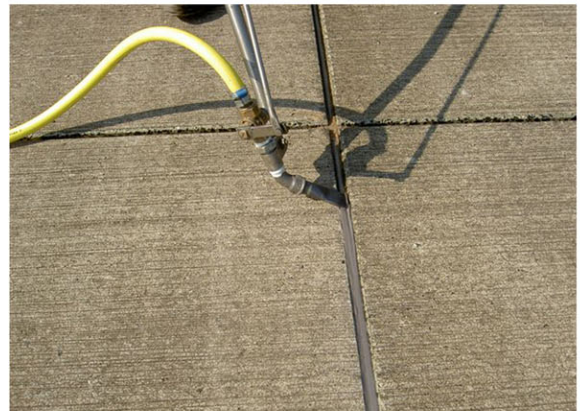

- high resistance to chemicals, and de-icing materials
- high UV Resistance
- resistance to temperatures in hot and cold climates
- durable, proven high quality since 1960's
- superior adhesion
- reduced danger for Foreign Object Damage
- self levelling properties
- plastic and elastic (means less stress in the material and at the adhesion)
- easy to apply
- less sensitive to moisture (especially during application)
- low maintenance

To achieve these properties a balanced formulation together with a high Polysulfide content of the mixed (A+B part) product is necessary. The polysulfide content has a lot to do with the durability of the product in the Joint. SABA has a high Polysulfide content up to 55% (of the mixed Product).

A high performance sealant is the first part, but the application is very important as well, SABA can provide service and or training during application, to create this longer service life and lower total costs. It is the end result that counts!

SABA's Polysulfide products are CE (EN 14188), SS-S200E and DIBt certified. SABA's Polysulfide's are also extensively tested and certified by an independent Dutch organization called KOMO/KIWA and fulfills the BRL 2825 standard, which states a life expectancy of 15 years.
